I would like to welcome you to the third issue of the International Journal of Practices in Teaching and Learning. It is a peer reviewed journal that aims to publish research articles pertaining to quality education which is a subsection of Sustainable Development Goals (SDG). Since the theme 'Teaching and Learning Approaches in the New Norm' is very much popular among authors cum contributors, the theme has been retained.

Like each issue prior to this, the current one comprises ten papers with topics involving augmented reality for virtual practical learning, digital literacy skills, TikTok projects in enhancing speaking activities, challenges of teaching speaking skill in Tamil, Google Meet as a learning platform, significance of EFL textbooks in learning English, open and distance learning challenges among students, mental health awareness, usage of mobile phones among students and practicality of drama activities among pre-schoolers.

Again, many thanks to all the authors, reviewers and readers. Your support surely gives us the strength to continue to serve everyone. We hope you find this issue of benefit.
